

MatarEdit

Proofreading - Checking - Editing - Correcting

MatarEdit is a service we offer with the goal of helping you to improve the quality of your English language texts and documents. This is not a translation service, but it is aimed at helping those companies, active in particular in the polymer sector, in non-English speaking countries.

Should your data sheets, brochures, web-pages or other documentation contain errors, this not only leaves an unprofessional first impression, but could also cause your company to be excluded from certain internet searches, for example, due to the correct keywords not appearing.

Our native-speaker proficiency and extensive rubber and chemical industry experience and expertise enables us to work either with your existing English language document or a draft. Where relevant and necessary, we will improve the text and content, focussing on the correct vocabulary, punctuation, technical terminology, spelling, etc.

As a result of our many years of experience in the rubber and polymer industry and our mother-tongue competency, we can ensure that your data sheets, website, brochures and other documents, and their content will be free of errors and will convey the right messages. This will enable you to give both your existing and potential customers a professional and lasting impression from the moment they enter your website or see your documentation.

Should you wish to take advantage of this service, please feel free to contact us on the below email address and we will prepare an offer according to the content you have already drafted or which may already exist.

Our process works like this:

1. We review and check the existing documents, text or draft and the quality of the content.
2. We will then send you an offer based on the quality of the documents and the amount of effort required to edit, correct and improve the content.
3. Subject to your approval, the text will be edited and corrected including grammar, vocabulary, use of terminology, spelling, punctuation, etc.
4. We return to you the corrected version to enable you (or your webmaster) to update your master documents / files / website accordingly.

We also offer this service for specifications and technical data sheets, brochures, presentations and presentations slides, mailings, etc.

Documents can be edited using either British or American English (please specify your preference).

All documents will be treated with the strictest confidentiality, and will not be kept once the editing job is complete, and the documents have been returned to the client.

Please contact us at the email address mataredit@matarox.com for more details and a non-binding quotation!